The Pro-Straint RC1310 restraint chair offers the most secure way to restrain violent or combative prisoners while ensuring officer safety. The 7-point harness system provides maximum security while the soft wrist and ankle restraints and an ergonomic "pocket" for each leg provide greater control without sacrificing overall circulation. The monitoring officer can exercise (or medicate) the prisoner without releasing them from the restraint chair. Prisoners can even feed themselves while under full control.

Handles and buckles with molded in color offer permanent visual guides to make securing prisoners quicker and safer for all, while the molded-in arm and wrist channels provide relief for prisoners already cuffed when placed into the restraint chair.
